Our Philosophy

Each student-athlete will leave the Pete Rogers Intensive Wrestling Camps with a thorough knowledge of the four areas of athletic development—technical, physical, mental and nutritional.

The camps will focus on developing the technical component. But the staff will also lecture on the mental and nutritional preparation needed to excel in wrestling. Campers will also learn about various workouts the Ohio State University, Purdue, and MSOE squads implement in daily training.

As clinicians, we are aware of the importance of one-on-one instruction. Our staff is willing to help any athlete after sessions to ensure that each and every wrestler gets the most out of our camp.

Our philosophy on technique centers around use of the legs and hips. An athlete's power is in the legs and hips, and these concepts are stressed throughout the camp. We believe the ability to take ones opponent down is of vital importance. Most championships are won in the neutral position.

The Pete Rogers Intensive Camp's staff believes people are measured not only by what they do, but by the way they do it. During the camp, each student-athlete will be taught that performing like a champion on the mat requires acting like a champion off the mat.

2011 Pete Rogers Intensive Wrestling Camps July 17-23, 2011 Milwaukee, Wisconsin

An outstanding staff has developed four different camps to help you work toward your full potential.

The Pete Rogers Intensive Wrestling Camps will be held at MSOE, located in downtown Milwaukee. MSOE's dorms, cafeteria and the Kern Center are all just a short walk from each other.

This year's camps are limited to 250 wrestlers on campus at one time in order to give wrestlers as much individual work as possible. Mail your application early to secure entry! After you're accepted, you'll be mailed a letter detailing what you need to bring, directions, check-in information and other details. First acceptance mailings will be sent June 1st.

There will be a $150 non-refundable deposit to reserve your spot in camp.

Wrestlers can participate in two three-day camps if they are not run at the same time. For example, the Competition camp and Leg Attack camp or Toss, Turn and Pin camp and Leg Attack camp may be taken together.

The first round of confirmation letters to campers will be sent out in June.

Tuition includes room and board, instruction, camp shirt and limited insurance.

For more information, or to learn about group discounts, contact Peter Rogers at 765-427-9899 or 765-494-9137 or e-mail Peter at parogers@purdue.edu.

Campers will have an opportunity to learn from Peter Rogers (above), one of the best wrestlers in Wisconsin high school history.

Intensive Training Camp July 17-23, $600

Our staff understands the high level of work and effort needed to become an elite wrestler. This seven-day camp is designed for dedicated wrestlers who are willing to go the extra mile to become champions. This camp will not only provide wrestlers with instruction, but also a large amount of running, lifting and drilling. This camp is designed for wrestlers in good physical condition. It will only be offered to high school wrestlers. Wrestlers involved in this camp should expect intense workouts.

Intensive Technique and Competition Camp July 17-20, $300 (commuter $190)

This camp is designed for the athlete who wants to learn to drill the percentage techniques and test those techniques in live wrestling situations. In this camp, wrestlers will receive technical instructions and practice drilling these techniques in a structured, high-intensity environment.

There will be dual meet and tournament competition. The staff will provide daily analysis and critique of each wrestler's performance.

This camp is about learning to compete. The staff will focus on developing the toughness, intensity and self-confidence that is needed for victory.

The following is an approximate schedule for each of the five camps:

6 a.m. – Intensive Training Camp Morning Run
7 a.m. – Breakfast
9-11 a.m. – Session
Noon – Lunch
2-4 p.m. – Session
5:30 p.m. – Dinner
7-8:30 p.m. – Session
9-10:45 p.m. – Recreation/Movie
11 p.m. – Lights out

Toss, Turn & Pin Camp July 17-20, $300 (commuter $190)

A fall is the ultimate expression of domination in wrestling. This camp focuses on techniques that put your opponent in a pinning situation.

On the feet, the staff will teach ways to get your opponent from his feet to a danger situation.

On the mat, the staff will teach you how to control your opponent and win back points and falls.

For an additional $230, this camp can be made into a father-son camp.

Intensive Leg Attack and Takedown Camp

July 20-23, $300 (commuter $190)

Wrestling from the neutral position has become the most important aspect of wrestling any style. To be a champion, you must be able to dominate your opponent on your feet and take him to the mat. This camp will provide wrestlers with instruction in all aspects of leg attacks so they may become dominant on their feet.

The leg attack is the most basic and effective takedown technique. Every member of the Pete Rogers Camp staff has enjoyed great success on all levels of competition, thanks in large part to their knowledge of wrestling on their feet.

For an additional $230, this camp can be made into a father-son camp.

Pee Wee Camp

July 21-23, $260 (commuter $160)

This camp is for anyone from 5-10 years of age and has 1-3 years of wrestling experience. Basic skills such as takedowns, mat wrestling and pinning combinations will be taught. Campers will also learn about nutrition, sportsmanship and goal setting. Competition and wrestling-related games will be included. These camps will be enjoyable and beneficial for your young wrestler. For an additional $150, fathers can stay and spend quality time helping develop their young wrestler. Limited to first 30 campers who register.

Campers will enjoy working with former Purdue University wrestling standout, Ben Wissel, and current Purdue wrestlers.
